

BROOKLYN FRIENDS PUZZLED BY SWAN SUIT AGAINST WIFE

Nature of Action Brought by Ward of Millionaire Widow Kept Secret.

The announcement that Justice Benedict in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn had signed an order appointing former Lieut. Gov. M. Linn Bruce referee in an action by Halstead Swan against his wife, Florence Berry Swan, caused a flurry today in the circles in which the Swans have moved in New York and Brooklyn.

Halstead Swan was the ward of his grandmother, Mrs. William G. Kingsley, widow of the Brooklyn millionaire, when he eloped with the daughter of Marcellus Berry, foreign manager of the American Express Company, in 1908. It was said at the time that the bride's parents approved and Mrs. Kingsley did not. She soon received the couple, however. Mr. Swan is now in the automobile business in Bedford avenue.

The nature of the suit begun by Halstead Swan was not made apparent in the court proceedings yesterday as the summons and complaint were not filed.

Mrs. H. Krin, a sister with whom Mrs. Swan makes her home, at No. 43 East Fifty-eighth street, said to-day: "We have decided to let Mr. Swan do all the talking."

"Florence, with her boy, who is now five years old, has lived with us for the last three years, since Halstead arranged a separation and agreed to provide for them both.

"Since that time, it is true, their son has brought them together several times. But Swan could not be satisfied with a quiet domestic existence. My sister left town yesterday. We cannot understand on what grounds Swan pretends to make a basis for a suit of any sort."

Marcellus Berry, Mrs. Swan's father, said he understood she had gone to Newport.

Mr. Swan makes his home at the Crescent Athletic Club, Brooklyn.

GIRL FINDS MAN DYING.

A girl employee of James T. Leonard & Co., resident buyers, No. 353 Fourth avenue, found Charles Leonard, brother of the firm, head and manager of the shipping department, almost dead from loss of blood to-day. Both wrists were badly lashed and he held his penknife in one hand.

The girl's screams brought help and Leonard was hurried to Bellevue Hospital, where Dr. Waggoner said there was practically no chance for his recovery.

Mr. Leonard is fifty-five years old and lives with a sister, Miss Catherine, at

No. 80 West One Hundred and Ninth street. According to the police, the sister is authority for the statement that Leonard has been an inmate of Bloomingdale Asylum.

Dainty LINGERIE BLOUSES Fine Laces and Hand Embroidery

French Organdie Blouse, $2.89

Illustrated at lower left is one of the loveliest blouses imaginable at the price mentioned above. The tucks are of indescribable fineness, and the lace and band embroidery an effective combination.

The collar emphasizes a new style, fitting close at the back then flaring gracefully at the side into deep points. Hemstitching on collar and set-in sleeves.

Batiste Blouse, $3.89
Not too sheer, but just fine enough to launder perfectly. Tucks are employed for the trimming, forming a short yoke; clusters appear at the back and front. French tucked organdie with an embroidered edge makes a pretty vestee front. A neat collar of the batiste rolls back becomingly from a V neck.

Fine Batiste Blouse, $2.89
A very sheer waist with pin tucks at back and these continuing at front, forming a pretty squared design. Hand embroidery, hemstitching and lace, all find a place. The Blouse fastens at front with white crocheted buttons. The only color is a narrow black band that circles under the collar to the front.

French Organdie Blouse, $2.89
Plain, neat and fine materials characterize this Blouse. The back is full, but minus all trimming. A square yoke is set in at front and trimmed with rows of wash buttons. Hemstitching at set-in sleeves and around yoke. A narrow embroidered edge for vestee front are the only trimmings. A plain roll collar of the organdie.

MISSSES' SUITS According to the New Modes

These models are designed of such serviceable materials as serges, chevots and broadcloths, any one of which would make a delightful School Suit—or even serve for a more dressy occasion.

Broadcloth Suits, $24.74
A soft lustrous broadcloth of fine quality distinguishes these suits—besides the desirable colors of either black, navy blue, Copenhagen blue or brown. The smart 3/4-length coat is well tailored and has belt of wide black braid. Collar and front of coat is trimmed with trunk opossum. Very plain half yoke skirt.

Men's Wear Serge Suits, $28.75
Among the new models none have been more graceful or girlish than this long waisted model. The fullness for the coat is set on in box pleated effect at the long waist line. Very military is the straight line fastening at the front with buttons; plain yoke skirt. Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years. Color—navy blue.

Cheviot Suits, $17.74
The long Coat is also a feature of this Suit; navy blue, brown and green are the choice of colors. The wide belt and cuffs are of self material finished with braid edges. The plain skirt has also belt of self material.

Cheviot Suits, $13.74
A short Coat model made blouse effect. A narrow belt of material circles the waist and fastens with a cloth ornament. A well fitting velvet collar. In shades of navy blue, brown and green. Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years.
